Board of Directors

Greetings Presbyterian Women and Siblings!

On behalf of Presbyterian Women, Inc., and PW's Board of Directors—CSW Planning and Advisory Group, I am excited to announce the opening of Presbyterian Women's application process to the 71st session of the Commission on the Status of Women at the United Nations Headquarters in New York!

Women of the PC(USA) have been advocating for justice since our earliest denominational women's organizations. Presbyterian Women's official participation in the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women (UN CSW) began in 2006 as a part of the PC(USA)'s delegation, mobilizing delegates from our greater church body to participate in our shared work for gender justice. In 2018, Presbyterian Women received accreditation to the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). With this accreditation, PW's delegation continues our joint witness in partnership and collaboration with the Presbyterian Ministry at the United Nations (PMUN) while enhancing the PC(USA)'s visibility at the United Nations. For decades, Presbyterian Women has carried our advocacy and witness into global spaces, standing with women of faith who seek equity, justice and peace.

Presbyterian Women's Board of Directors—CSW Planning and Advisory Group will select a delegation to attend the 71st Session of the Commission on the Status of Women to be held in person and online March 8–19, 2027. The following pages and application provide information about the Commission (and the Forum, organized by the NGO Committee on the Status of Women/NY), how to apply to be part of PW's delegation, PW's emerging space of online participation and Presbyterian Women's expected delegate commitment and participation.

The priority theme for CSW71 is accelerating the achievement of gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. The session will also feature a review theme evaluating progress on achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls in the context of climate change, environmental, and disaster risk reduction policies and programs, alongside a critical area of interest focusing on poverty and the economic empowerment of women.

Implementing the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda resonates profoundly with our PW Purpose and commitment to our call to justice. As Presbyterian women, we commit ourselves to the equity and liberation of all women, girls, and gender expansive persons held in the Imago Dei. We recognize that sustainable development is inextricably linked to gender justice and continue to resist policies and acts of otherism that harm marginalized communities and perpetuate poverty. We have chosen to labor with one another to build spaces of safety through multigenerational movements and reimagined activism. Presbyterian Women's delegation to the Commission on the Status of Women will mobilize our PW Purpose with our voices of diversity into the connectional and intersectional spaces of the Commission where "advocacy is worship and worship is advocacy."

In Unity and Solidarity,

Kelsey Law

About the United Nations 71st Session of the Commission on the Status of Women

Presbyterian Women's Grounds Passes and Access

The 71st session of the Commission on the Status of Women will take place at United Nations Headquarters in New York City, New York, from March 8–19, 2027.

- Priority Theme: Accelerating the achievement of gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development
- Review Theme: Achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls in the context of climate change, environmental and disaster risk reduction policies and programs.
- Critical Area of Concern or Cross-cutting Issue: Poverty and the economic empowerment of women

Through participation, Presbyterian Women's delegation is inspired and equipped to advocate for gender equality and women's empowerment at the international level. Presbyterian Women delegates return from CSW to advocate at local, state, and national levels. In this way, PW's presence at CSW not only connects us to global movements for justice but also strengthens our grassroots ministry at home, bringing fresh vision, resources, and strategies into congregations, presbyteries, and synods. By engaging in the official CSW sessions and the vibrant NGO CSW/NY Forum, Presbyterian Women join with our ecumenical partners from around the world in learning, witness, and coalition-building. This participation reflects PW's longstanding commitment to live out our Purpose in global siblinghood, ensuring that the voices and experiences of women everywhere shape our common pursuit of justice, peace and equity.

A limited number of grounds passes are provided to each NGO with ECOSOC status. Space is limited so all applicants may not be accommodated. During the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW), participants who wish to enter the United Nations Headquarters in New York must have a UN grounds pass. This pass is a temporary identification badge issued by the UN and is required to access official CSW events, side events held within UN premises, and to move through security checkpoints.

- Who Receives PW Grounds Passes: Grounds passes are typically distributed to individuals who are registered as part of an accredited NGO, like Presbyterian Women. PW's CSW Planning and Advisory Group selects PW's delegation.
- How Grounds Passes Are Issued: Accredited organizations, like PW, submit participant names in advance through the UN registration system (Indico). Once approved, participants collect their passes at the UN Pass and ID office with valid government-issued photo identification. PW's Vice Moderator, Kelsey Law, and PW's Executive Director, Susan Jackson-Dowd, approve PW's delegates in the Indico system.
- Why Grounds Passes Matter: The pass ensures security and order within UN headquarters, while also giving Presbyterian Women delegates the ability to attend official sessions, participate in advocacy, and network with global partners during CSW.

Presbyterian Women's FAQs for Participation

Delegate Selection

Presbyterian Women values the gifts and voices of all who seek to serve as delegates to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women (CSW). Because space is limited, not all who apply will be accommodated, and prior service as a delegate does not guarantee future selection. In keeping with our commitment to access and equity, PW's delegate selection process strives to reflect the breadth of Presbyterian Women's community—across generations, identities, cultures, races, ethnicities, geographic regions, and ministry experiences. Presbyterian Women's CSW Planning and Advisory Group's goal is to shape a delegation that embodies both the diversity and the unity of Presbyterian Women.

Presbyterian Women's CSW Planning and Advisory Group

Members of PW's CSW Planning and Advisory Group are selected from PW's Board of Directors and external PWs who act as liaisons in other capacities as they relate to the UN CSW forum. Members are delegates to the current CSW and have attended previous CSWs.

Delegate Funding Responsibility and Support

Participation as a CSW delegate is fully self-funded, and each delegate holds responsibility for the costs of Ecumenical Women orientation registration, travel, housing, and meals. While there is no registration fee to attend the Commission or Presbyterian and Presbyterian Women orientation and events, Presbyterian Women encourages delegates to explore PW's national leadership development grants (LDGs), seek support from their local PW congregation, presbytery and synod groups, and engage local networks for encouragement and partnership. This model not only helps share resources equitably but also strengthens the bond between each delegate and the wider PW community, ensuring that the delegation's witness is both personal and communal. Learn More from Presbyterian Women's Delegate Experiences

Presbyterian Women delegates from past years have shared powerful testimonies of worshiping with sisters from across the globe, hearing firsthand accounts of injustice and resilience, and finding new courage to advocate in their own communities. These reflections remind us that CSW is more than an event; the Commission is a transformative experience that shapes our faith, deepens our sense of global sisterhood, and equips us to bring hope and action back to our congregations, presbyteries, synods and daily lives.

PW's Delegation and In-Person Delegate Participation

Goals of Participation as a PW Delegate

- To advocate within the Commission, guided by PC(USA) General Assembly policy and the PW Purpose, with the goal of affecting the agreed conclusions of the Commission
- To learn and use advocacy processes and skills within the UN context
- To work in partnership with people of all ages on women's empowerment and its link to sustainable development and the elimination and prevention of all forms of violence against women and girls
- To inspire, equip and connect Presbyterian women to demonstrate and proclaim God's justice, peace and love at the Commission and in their local contexts
- To expand the inclusive and caring community of women and their supporters
- To build and nurture networks with global partners

Expectations of Delegates

Members of Presbyterian Women's delegation represent the PC(USA) and Presbyterian Women. In light of these considerations, the following is strongly encouraged and anticipated from those selected to be a part of Presbyterian Women's delegation.

Attendance and participation. Delegates are expected to make the Commission their top priority during the event and to work together to enhance PW's advocacy efforts. Delegates are expected to attend as many short training sessions as possible, the Presbyterian Women's delegation orientation and the Ecumenical Women orientation, both held before the Commission starts, and to participate in at least one week of the Commission, a combination of in person and online. The Presbyterian Women's event to be announced are highly encouraged for all members of the PW delegation. Attendance through the second week of the Commission is ideal for the full advocacy experience.

Preparation. Delegates are expected to have knowledge of issues related to "accelerating gender equality and empowerment of all women and girls in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, climate and disaster risk policies, and poverty/economic empowerment" and knowledge of the PC(USA) policies on eradicating systemic poverty and of the Beijing Platform for Action and the Sustainable Development Goals are key for full participation. Delegates are expected to read preparatory materials and to participate in preparatory conference calls, videoconferences and/or webinars. Delegates must have reliable access to email because most communication will occur via email.

Advocacy, worship, education and communication. Throughout the Commission there will be opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts, to plan and participate in worship services, to attend and lead educational events and to share these experiences using social media and other communication tools. Delegates are expected to participate in some manner in all four of these—advocacy, worship, education and communication—while participating in the Commission and the Forum.

Reporting back while participating in the Commission. Delegates are expected to report to the Presbyterian Women's delegation on the events in which they participated each day. Delegates are encouraged to use social media to share their experiences with a wider audience; assistance will be provided.

Reporting back after the Commission. Delegates may be asked to write articles for various PW communication channels after the Commission. All are encouraged to share their experiences at the Commission with the wider church—including, but not limited to, PW groups, their congregation, other congregations and their mid-council.

Use of contact information and photographs. Members of the Presbyterian delegation give permission to the programs and ministries of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and Presbyterian Women in the PC(USA), Inc., to use their contact information and photographs within the church.

Anticipated Delegate Events

The 71st Session of Commission on the Status of Women—minimum PW participation is Monday, March 8–Friday, March 12, 2027; full CSW participation is Monday, March 8–Friday, March 19, 2027. Delegates are encouraged to attend as many events in person as possible. Attending some events online is also an option.
